MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Management and Services
SUBJECT : Weekly Report - Office of Training

I. Recent Activities

A. ISTC Link With DIA Computers

On Wednesday, 14 November, the first interactive communications were established between the new classified terminal area in the Information Science Training Center (ISTC), in Chamber of Commerce, and the DIA Computer Center in Arlington Hall. We expect this capability to be fully operational by next Monday, the 19th, for use by students in the class now in session. Although ISTC still has use of the DIS terminals available for the training, hopefully, the new on-line arrangement will be "bug-free" and we can carry on with the Arlington Hall set-up.

B. Senior Seminar

In the recently completed block on CIA's official relationships, members of the Seminar met with senior officers of the Intelligence Community Staff, the Departments of State and Defense, the National Security Agency, Treasury, and the Staff of the National Security Council. During the "Day at State," the class heard Ambassador Bunker and had lunch with Dr. Ray Cline, D/INR. In a "lunch-in", back in the Senior Seminar room, the class heard an interesting description of the NIO system from George Carver, the D/DCI/NIO. On the concluding day of this block, Congressman Lucien Nezdi, Chairman of the Intelligence Operations Subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, talked about Congressional oversight of CIA.

C. Guest Speaker Program: November's Guest

The second speaker in the program [REDACTED] STAT

[REDACTED]
combined audience of personnel from CIA and other Community-agencies (100 tickets were made available to the latter group) in the Auditorium on Tuesday, 13 November, from 1600-1800 hours. Also among the audience were approximately 30 military officers who had just finished the first day of the JCS/DIA Orientation.

STAT
[REDACTED] topic was "Crisis Management in International Affairs." The highlight of his presentation turned out to be the question period during which he went into considerable detail describing his experience in conducting a war game on the Middle East for a group of Russians. This he did in Moscow in 1970.

STAT
The program had to be brought to an end at 1800 hours to give [REDACTED] time to keep to his flight schedule. (OTR video taped the address and the question period.)

D. JCS-DIA Orientation

Sixty military officers and civilians attended the semiannual orientation on Tuesday and Wednesday, 13-14 November, in Room 1A-07, Headquarters. General Walters concluded the program with a candid, wide-ranging presentation dealing with the Agency's current priorities, citing in particular, primacy of the Soviet target and economic intelligence. He ended with a brief though lively question-and-answer period.

Why?
The consensus of OTR faculty members present is that this was perhaps one of the best orientations in recent years.

E. DTR Visits Leadership Center

STATINTL
The Director of Training, with Dr. Tietjen, D/OMS, and John Blake, D/P, were at the Center for Creative Leadership in Greensboro, N.C. yesterday, the 15th, for a briefing and special program on assessment techniques. [REDACTED] OMS/PSS, accompanied the trio.

II. Upcoming Developments

A. Project Officer in the Contract Cycle (POCC)

Arrangements have been made through the Chief, OTS/DDS&T to have Mr. [Redacted], Chief of the Applied Physics Branch, OTS, address the next class in the POCC (10-14 Dec.) on the subject of "Project Management" in place of Mr. [Redacted] of OD&E. [Redacted] experience with the smaller types of R&D contracts will be more pertinent to the class than the multimillion dollar type of contract experience on which [Redacted] based his presentation.

B. Managerial Seminar for OWI

The Management faculty has set early next week for a meeting with senior officers in the Office of Weapons Intelligence to critique the two and one-half day program completed this past Tuesday at the [Redacted] and to determine whether or not the program as now constituted, or revised, will be given in early 1974 for a second group from the Office.

The program began on Sunday evening with an introduction by [Redacted] DD/OWI; the subjects covered were leadership, motivation, communication, and MBO. Twenty-five officers, GS 13-15, attended the program.

C. The Director to Conclude Midcareer Course

Mr. Colby will close the current course on Friday, 7 December. He will address the midcareerists in his Conference Room at 2:30 p.m.

D. Visit to DTS by Captains Wise and Horn

Tuesday, 20 November, is now the day Captain James Wise of the IC Staff and Captain Charles Horn, USN, Military Assistant in the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Intelligence (Dr. Albert Hall), are scheduled to go to [REDACTED] for a full briefing and tour of the facility. Their visit is associated with the current study being done on the Community's training facilities. STATINTL

E. Possible Closing of FSI's School in Yokohama

The Foreign Service Institute is keeping us informed on the problems at the Japanese language school in Yokohama. Reduced enrollments are making student costs almost prohibitive. FSI is considering the possibility of closing the school, looking at the alternative of using one of the universities in Japan for its required language study.
